

Maura Judkis

Washington, D.C.

Reporter covering culture, food and the arts

Education: George Washington University, BA in journalism, 2007; University of Southern California/National Endowment for the Arts, journalism fellow, 2011

Maura Judkis is a features reporter for The Washington Post, covering culture, food and the arts. She is a 2018 and 2020 James Beard Award winner, a 2019 Society for Features Journalism award winner, and her work has been honored by the Association of Food Journalists and the Virginia Press Association. Maura has appeared on local and international TV and radio, including MSNBC, CNN, PBS and Al Jazeera. She has also written for U.S. News & World Report, TBD.com, ARTnews, the Washington City Paper and the Onion A.V. Club.

- Honors & Awards:
- James Beard Award, investigative reporting, 2020
 - Finalist, Webby Awards, social video: food and drink, 2020
 - First place, Society for Features Journalism, food writing portfolio, 2019
 - Finalist, James Beard Award, personal essay, 2019
 - James Beard Award, humor, 2018
 - First place, Association of Food Journalists, special food project, 2018
 - Second place, Association of Food Journalists, food feature story, 2018
 - First place, Virginia Press Association, personal service writing, 2016
 - Third place, Association of Food Journalists, food and business writing, 2016
 - Second place, Association of Food Journalists, multimedia journalism, 2015

Show less ▲

Connect:

Share confidential news tips with The Post →

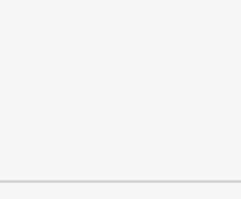

Latest from Maura Judkis

Style

The Snoo is a $1,500 bassinet — and a touchstone for parental judgment, anxiety and privilege

Also, it's artificially intelligent.

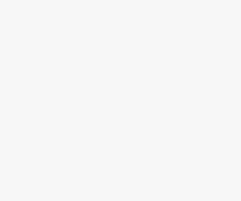

Jul 13, 2021

Style

‘I’ve got tequila on my foot’: It’s last call for Whitlow’s in Clarendon

After 26 years, the longtime bro bar closes with one last week of ragers.

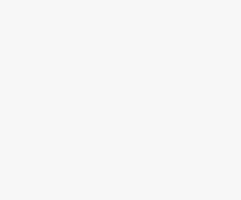

Jun 28, 2021

Style

Man-icures: How male celebrities are popularizing painted, polished nails

“Do one pinkie,” says one male polish-wearer. “See how it feels.”

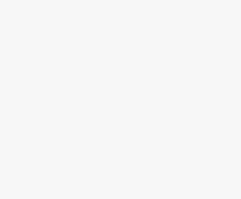

Jun 21, 2021

Style

Remembering Champ Biden: The president’s beloved German shepherd was a ‘sweet, good boy’

The elder of the president’s two dogs has died at 13.

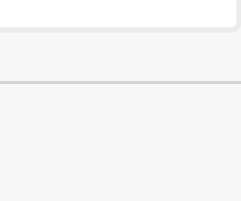

Jun 19, 2021

Style

‘Hot Vax Summer’ is coming. Can it possibly live up to the hype?

People seem to be expecting no less than a post-pandemic party of the century.

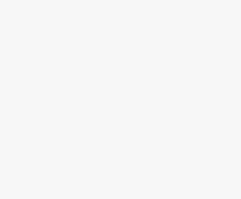

May 18, 2021

Style

The Jean War between millennials and Gen Z cannot be won

Every generation flies a denim battle flag. But surrender may be the only way out.

May 10, 2021

Style

Who were we and what were we thinking? A return to offices frozen in time.

For workers who haven’t been back in many months, a cubicle is a tiny museum to pre-pandemic life.

Apr 28, 2021

Fashion

Oscars fashion 2021: The looks and trends that took over the red carpet

What does an Oscars red carpet during a pandemic look like? It's full of gold and white — and some adorable soccer socks.

Apr 25, 2021

Style

A minor investigation into the Bidens’ Major problem

What’s eating the first family’s youngest dog?

Apr 14, 2021

Style

Some young women embraced their gray hair during the pandemic. They might not go back.

In the privacy of quarantine, a sorority of “silver sisters” decided to show their true colors. I became one of them.

Apr 12, 2021

LOAD MORE

About Maura Judkis

Maura Judkis is a features reporter for The Washington Post, covering culture, food and the arts. She is a 2018 and 2020 James Beard Award winner, a 2019 Society for Features Journalism award winner, and her work has been honored by the Association of Food Journalists and the Virginia Press Association. Maura has appeared on local and international TV and radio, including MSNBC, CNN, PBS and Al Jazeera. She has also written for U.S. News & World Report, TBD.com, ARTnews, the Washington City Paper and the Onion A.V. Club.

washingtonpost.com
© 1996-2021 The Washington Post

The Washington Post App
Help

Policies and Standards
Terms of Service

Privacy Policy
Print Products Terms of Sale

Digital Products Terms of Sale
Submissions and Discussion Policy

RSS Terms of Service
Ad Choices

Contact Us